APPENDIX A

STOAT HALL FISHERIES

The Parish Council are concerned that the regulations being used in this case are in fact being wrongly applied, as the property which this applicant wished to convert, is not an agricultural building, but in fact one of a number of temporary buildings which have been erected at a recreational fishing site over a number of years.

To the knowledge of the Parish Council, the building in question has never had any form of agricultural use.

Given the nature of the building it is unlikely that any type of services are in place

Given the nature of the structure the proposed work involved, would seem to be a rebuild rather than a conversion.

An article in relation to the regulations appertaining to Class Q conversions provided by Cllr Rigby was attached as part of the response to Chorley Council.
